The following schedule shows the number which any section of the codes of 1877 or of the general statutes alas become in the compiled laws. The design has been to indicate only the section to which the text of any enactment has been compiled, without giving the reference to other sections which may have been modified thereby. Where a section of the session laws merely repealed something, it of course has no place in the compilation, but the enactments abrogated thereby have been stricken out.
